YUMMY Recipes from the MYDC Kitchen

he grass is green, the weather here in Oklahoma is warm, and God is always good. No matter what you are going through right now, I want to encourage you that God is good and faithful and true.

Because of that we can trust Him with everything we have! The Bible says our worries and our joy are both known to Him, and He cares about you deeply.

As you read these pages, you can explore ways to "Discover Your True Strength" in my newest book regarding both strength builders and strength stealers. Let's find out together which areas are uniquely placed there by God and explore our godly strengths and find out how we can implement them in our daily lives. I can't wait for you to get this new book!

We can also explore the theme of finding sunshine around the corner, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, there is always a glimmer of hope waiting to be discovered. As we journey through these pages, may we be reminded of the boundless possibilities that await us when we choose to embrace God's light and step boldly into the future.

Feeling a bit hungry? This month's recipes are filled with family heirlooms. And my mother-in-law, Evelyn Roberts', layered vegetable casserole graces the pages of this months family-filled menu. I hope you enjoy these recipes as much as we have over the years. They truly hold a special place in our hearts.

Please read about Mother's Day and Father's Day in this issue, and know we honor and pray for the lovely moms and precious dads these next couple of months.

I pray that as you walk through these next few months you are comforted by God's love and reminded that He is always with you right where you are at.

With love and blessings,

Healed after Prayer

Susan has been a partner for 34 years and follows Lindsay on Make Your Day Count and The Place for Miracles. Susan had Covid and said she was watching Lindsay and Melissa on MYDC as Lindsay was praying for the sick using several scriptures. She used Psalm 118:17, "I shall live and not die and declare the works of the Lord." The effects of Covid made Susan feel terrible and like she was going to die. But after Lindsav's prayer and claiming that verse, she was instantly healed and has had no more symptoms! Susan says she is quick to tell anyone to watch the Roberts' ministry programs if they need healing!

Baby healed of RSV and Sepsis

Gloria called the Abundant Life Prayer Group for prayer after her granddaughter was born prematurely at only two pounds! She had developed RSV and sepsis and was not expected to live. Gloria then called back with the praise report that her granddaughter is healed and is doing well as she continues to improve and grow.

DISCOVER YOUR THUE STRUCT STRUCT STRUCT TO BE TO

BY LINDSAY ROBERTS

I'm thrilled to announce the release of my latest book, "Discover Your True Strength"! It's finally here and I'm so excited to share it with you. This book isn't just another read—it's a journey aimed at uncovering the amazing biblical strength within every godly woman.

As I poured my heart into writing this book, I anchored it using three powerful scriptures—Ephesians 6:10, Philippians 4:13, and Nehemiah 8:10.

Consider this: Ephesians 6:10 encourages us to "be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might." It's not merely a suggestion; it's an invitation to tap into a boundless source of supernatural strength, telling us we can face challenges that come our way with confidence and resilience.

And Philippians 4:13? It's a rallying cry, reminding us that we can conquer anything through Christ's strength within us! Think about the possibilities that can mean—no obstacle is insurmountable; no dream is too big. When we operate through Christ, we receive our strength through Him and attach ourselves to His Father, our Father, the Creator of the universe residing within us.

...you can discover that there may be a special, God-given reason you were created with these gifts-and a purpose for using them to make a difference in the world around you.

But there's more! Nehemiah 8:10 unveils a secret weapon: the joy of the Lord. Imagine a joy so infectious and unshakeable that it fuels you with strength for every challenge. That's the joy we can tap into in "Discover Your True Strength"—a joy that empowers us to face life's obstacles with confidence and grace.

In this book, I'm pulling back the curtain to reveal the ultimate strength hacks I've found helpful in my life and ministry. They are from personal observations I encountered as I read through the Word of God. They are principles that I pray can bring you to a place in Christ to achieve all He has for you. We'll explore the concept of strength stealers versus strength builders, uncovering things that can drain our strength and derail our progress. From things like unexpected financial pressures to chronic illnesses to daunting tasks, or some other kind of challenge. You can discover how God's Word can turn challenges into opportunities for growth and transformation.

"Discover Your True Strength" is written to equip you with practical tools designed to help you walk confidently in godly strength, exploring how God's Word can turn unusual situations into opportunities for growth. Through His supernatural anointing and blessings, God can turn depletion into completion, ushering us into a realm of possibilities we never thought attainable. By surrendering our situations to Him in faith, the Word shows us we can align ourselves with His strength, power, and guidance, giving us the hope to overcome challenges through Christ.

One of my favorite chapters is all about helping you discover your unique strengths. We'll explore some of the gifts and talents that make you who you are, uncovering hidden superpowers you may never have known you had. While the world often emphasizes our weaknesses, this book takes a different approach. Instead, you are urged to shine a light on the inherent gifts and qualities that make you exceptional. Through a few unique questions and biblical observations, you can discover that there may just be a special, God-given reason you were created with these gifts—and a purpose for using them to make a difference in the world around you.

Today, I want to encourage you to explore who you are from the inside out. Just as Father God knows you and has declared you fearfully and wonderfully made, I believe it's through our connection with Christ that we can understand our identity and potential. Whether within our homes, schools, or communities, we can bring about unique change and biblical ideas to promote God's kingdom and all He has called us to do. And even if you feel unqualified, the power of the Holy Spirit within us can unleash our godly strengths in ways that perhaps we never thought possible.

My prayer for you today is that you recognize the abundance of opportunities available to you, even in the middle of life's challenges. Just as God presents these opportunities, I trust that He will also equip you with the strength, power, and wisdom needed to seize them. I pray for every aspect of your life, but especially for your obedience to God's call, believing that He is faithful to provide everything necessary to fulfill His purpose in your life.

So, I invite you to join me on this life-changing adventure. Together, I pray we discover just how strong we truly are when we walk in the strength of Christ!

In Discover Your True Strength: Choosing to Thrive in the Midst of Life's Challenges, Lindsay describes how, through the powerful love of God, strong women can think and act, listen and speak, respond and thrive. Life can be full of strength-stealers: situations, experiences, or relationships that can rob us of our courage and passion. Lindsay shows how you can exchange strength-stealers for strength-builders! As you come to understand and embrace your true, God-given strength, you can live each day to the fullest and pursue what you love and are called to do.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT

DISCOVER YOUR TRUE STRENGTH

"Some books teach you the principles needed for that moment of "What do I do?" or an encouraging word to keep you moving forward through the toughest of times. Lindsay Roberts, in Discover Your True Strength, not only teaches and encourages but also empowers you with Scripture to obtain the overcomer's stance of peace and stability to stand firm and strong."

Joni Lamb — Daystar Television Network

"Lindsay's words are inspiring and full of wisdom, and we highly recommend this book to anyone seeking to deepen their relationship with God and discover their true strength in Him. The possibilities God has for each of us are limitless. Francie and I have enjoyed many prayer calls with Richard and Lindsay, and Discover Your True Strength is a reflection of Lindsay's heart to help people see that God is love, and He has given each of us a unique strength and calling, and that through Him, we can truly tap into our full potential. This book has been a blessing to us, and we believe it will be a blessing to many others as well."

Duane "Dog the Bounty Hunter" and Francie Chapman
— Public figures and speakers

"In her book, Lindsay Roberts takes you on a miraculous journey of faith to help you discover your God-given strengths through His Word that will, in turn, bless and strengthen others. As you take practical steps to fulfill your calling, by choosing courage and joy, and by relying on God's supernatural inner strength, you will find you are truly stronger that you think to positively impact your world!"

The importance of having a

AN INTERVIEW WITH TERRI SAVELLE FOY

Lindsay: I'm holding in my hand the book, Dream it. Pin it. Live it. I'm so excited because Terri Savelle Foy is here.

Terri Savelle Foy: Yay! Oh, it's an honor. And you're talking about my favorite subject: dreams. I love talking about dreams. One of the reasons it's so important to have vision, is obviously Proverbs 29:18 which says, "Where there is no vision, there's perishing." But with vision, you come alive, you get focused, you get self-discipline. So, I like to say this...Let's just imagine that it's pouring down rain outside, and you jump in your car, you turn on the car, it works fine, the lights work, the heater works, the radio, everything seems to work except for one thing...the windshield wiper. As long as your vision is impaired, you are not going anywhere. And it's the same with life. You will stay where you are. So I love to teach people how to start dreaming again and then go after those dreams.

Melissa: It's never too late to start working on your dreams.

Lindsay: You wrote, scripturally speaking, that God said, "All that you can see is yours." And, I wrote on here, "Where your feet pass, you take the territory"—which is scriptural.

Melissa: That's good Lindsay. It's a mindset shift.

Lindsay: It is! It's hard to to see outside of our circumstances and hit the reset button. So Terri, when you don't believe the Word of God, or you believe the Word of God, but you just don't think it's for your life, how can you make the mental shift to really walk out your dreams?

Terri Savelle Foy: Well, I always tell people to start with a blank page. Start with a blank canvas. Years ago, when I was working with my dad, we were redecorating the offices. I was over in France speaking at a conference, and the girl who was decorating texted me and she said, "Terri, what do you want on this giant wall that your desk faces?"

I texted her back, "A vision board." She texted me back, "Huh?" I said, "I want a big vision board, because I want to put pictures of where I see the ministry going."

She found a cork board in a closet that nobody was using. She found a frame and she framed the cork board and hung it on the wall. Well, when I got back from France, I could hardly wait to see the offices, and I'd been gone so long I had to get caught up on my work. So I was busy.

I remember sitting at my desk and I would look up at the empty corkboard. I cannot tell you how bad it bothered me to see nothing every time I would look up from my desk. And here's my point...If you see nothing, you can expect nothing.

Lindsay: That's right.

Melissa: Powerful image.

Terri Savelle Foy: If you see nothing in your future, then every year is just a repeat of the year before.

That's how I used to live. Well, it didn't take me long, I started putting pictures and images of where I saw my life going with just different things that I put on the board. This is how I like to help people get started, because for years, I didn't know where to start. And I didn't have dreams for my life. So, here's the best way I like to tell people. Let's imagine that it's December 31st of this year.

Lindsay: Okay.

Terri Savelle Foy: You're projecting forward. It's New Year's Eve. You have your party hat on, you're celebrating with your friends. Just imagine turning to your friend and saying, "This has been the most amazing year of my life." Now, what would need to happen for you to say that? Because whatever it is, that's what you're going to write down. That's what you're going to put on the vision board.

Lindsay: Wow!

Terri Savelle Foy: So what does that mean? "I paid off $12,000 of credit card debt." "I reached my ideal body weight." Or whatever that looks like. "I'm driving my dream car." "I sold five houses." "I went on my dream trip." "I conceived a baby." "I'm pregnant." What needs to happen for you to say, "This has been the best year of my life?" God is the one who declares the end from the beginning, right?

Lindsay: He starts with the finished product.

Terri Savelle Foy: Yes. So, another example is, I had a friend of mine who had the opportunity to minister to this famous actor in Hollywood, and he said when he walked in his house, he saw this big glass wall with 150 index cards all over the wall. And he asked him, "What is all that?" And the actor said, "Well, that's my next movie I'm working on."

"Every good movie has ups and downs, and good characters, and bad characters, and conflict, and victory. I just move my scenes around until I get it the way I like it."

Lindsay: Interesting.

Terri Savelle Foy: Well, my friend was looking at this and he said, "This is so confusing. How do you even know where to start?"

And you know what the actor said? "That's the easy part. You always start with the final scene. You decide how you want the movie to end, and then you work towards it."

Melissa: That's so profound.

Terri Savelle Foy: That's what you're doing with your vision board. When you imagine it's the end of this year, what do you want to see happen? You take the time to write it down. Then you start moving towards it. Does that make sense?

Lindsay: Yes, it makes perfect sense. In your book, I remember you saying, "Declare God's promises over your life."

Melissa: Yes! It also says, "Declare your unique individual desires."

Terri Savelle Foy: Yes! It's important to declare your dreams with action steps!

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

INGREDIENTS

1 (6 oz.) can frozen lemonade

1 (6 oz.) can frozen orange juice

1 (8 oz.) package frozen strawberries

1 small can crushed pineapple with juice

1 small jar maraschino cherries with juice (stems removed)

3 diced bananas

2 1/2 cups water

1 cup sugar (I use less sugar since fruit is sweet on it's own.)

DIRECTIONS

Mix all ingredients together. Freeze. Serve frozen.

INGRED ENTS

1 egg, beaten

1 cup milk

3 Tbsp. oil

1 1/2 cups bran cereal (I use All-Bran only)

1 cup flour

2 1/2 tsp. baking powder

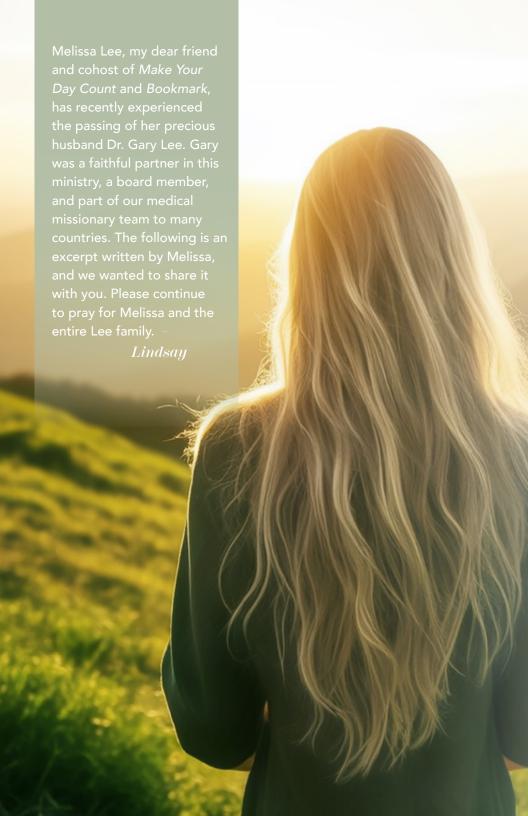

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 cup brown sugar

DIRECTIONS

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Set aside. Blend milk, beaten egg, and oil together. Add flour, baking powder, brown sugar and salt to milk, egg and oil mixture. Add bran last. Blend together gently and do not mush-just blend. Bake at 400° clean. (Caution handling hot pan)

HOPP in the Son

hen the enemy tells you that there's no hope— no hope for peace, no hope for comfort, no hope for joy, no hope for the future—I encourage you to remember Paul's hope-filled prayer:

"May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit, you may abound in hope."

-ROMANS 15:13

That's the truth that can disarm the lies of the enemy. Turning our gaze to the risen Son, and inviting Him into every crevice of who we are, we can experience a hope that has the power to obliterate any attack of the devil. With that, I compassionately share some good news. Satan is a liar.

I have walked through many hard times...most recent being the loss of my dear husband, Dr. Gary Lee. He is dearly missed and dearly loved. The Bible says we don't grieve as those without hope, and in my grief I remain ever-trusting in the hope and promises of Jesus.

Thank you for your prayers.

Melissa

A DOWN SPRAYERS

AS A TEENAGER, I TOLD MY PARENTS I WAS LEAVING HOME AND GOING OUT ON MY OWN...

Some young men might be ready to leave home at that age, but I was leaving with the spirit and attitude of a runaway. By leaving, I was declaring my intention to run my life according to my own desires instead of God's or my parents'.

Mama put her arms around me and kissed me. She wet my face with her tears. She said, "Oral, I'm putting a covering of prayer over you. Every night I'll be praying. You'll never get away from my prayers."

For five months Mama walked the floor of our little house and called out my name to the Lord. "God bring him home," she prayed. The night I collapsed during a basketball tournament and fell unconscious, hemorrhaging from the mouth, my coach brought me home and laid me on my parents' bed.

When the doctors told Mama that I had tuberculosis... even as I wasted away, coughing and bleeding...she kept a prayer cover over my life. She literally refused to quit praying. She prayed over me every day until I was saved...and then until I was healed...and then until I had fully recovered... and until I began to preach...and for the my life and ministry until the day she died!

Mama believed in the power of prayer as much as the psalmist who wrote, I call on You, O God, for You will answer me and hear my prayer (Psalm 17:6). Are you holding on in prayer for a loved one? I encourage you to keep raising that prayer cover every day—because I believe miracles come through hold-on prayers!

Our Father

BY LINDSAY ROBERTS o you remember what happened when you were growing up and some child's father down the street bought him or her a fantastic toy that all the other kids wanted? I do. The other kids would say, "I wish he were my father." Well, as a child, my father went to heaven when I was just 12 years old so I had a lot of emotions associated with things like that.

But we don't have to feel that way about God. He's not somebody else's Father. He wants to be our Father. He wants the very best for His children. Jesus said, "What man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent? If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!" (Matthew 7:9-11)

Our Father is the God of the universe. He is God over all the world's problems—everything! And yet He's our Father! Whatever concerns us—even a trivial everyday problem—concerns Him. Jesus said, "Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?" (Matthew 6:26). If our Father is concerned with little things like feeding the birds, how much more can we take our needs to Him. We don't have to worry about what the future holds because anything we have need of—whether it's healing, deliverance, comfort, restoration, or provision—when we make God our Heavenly Father, as His children, we can reach out by faith and trust He can supply provision for us. As His children, our part is to reach out by faith and receive it.
